Board Priorities

To ensure the integrity and efficiency of the municipal securities market and to carry out its rulemaking activities, the MSRB believes that it must take whatever steps are necessary:

1. to provide market participants (investors, dealers, and issuers) with more information regarding the description of securities,
2. to provide market participants with more information about the issuers of securities,
3. to provide market participants with more information about the value of securities,
4. to increase the responsibility of issuer agents (e.g., financial advisors, trustees, transfer agents, paying agents, and bond attorneys) to the market,
5. to raise the ethical standard of the industry and ensure the vigorous enforcement of Board rules,
6. to improve the clearance and settlement system for municipal securities consistent with national goals.

Staff Appointment

Harold L. Johnson has been appointed Deputy General Counsel. Mr. Johnson has been with the Board since 1984, serving as Assistant General Counsel and Associate General Counsel. Before coming to the Board, he was Legislative Assistant to the Hon. Walter B. Jones of the U.S. House of Representatives. Public Access Facility for Official Statements: Rule G-36

Amendments Filed

The amendments would provide a public access facility for review of official statements and would require underwriters to provide the Board with two copies of an official statement.

On February 27, 1990, the Board filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (Commission) an amendment to proposed rule G-36, regarding the delivery of official statements and other information to the Board or its designee, and a stated policy, pursuant to proposed rule G-36, regarding a public access facility for official statements acquired pursuant to that rule.¹

Summary of Amendments

The Board, on November 13, 1989, filed proposed rule G-36, which is intended to begin the collection process for documents to be included in the Municipal Securities Information Library™ or MSIL™ system, an electronic repository for official statements and other documents that would function much like a public library that stores and indexes the documents and provides copies of the documents to parties requesting them for a fee. Proposed rule G-36 would require underwriters of certain municipal securities issues to provide to the Board or its designee a copy of the final official statement and a completed Form G-36.

The Commission staff, after reviewing proposed rule G-36, suggested that the Board provide access to the public to official statements collected pursuant to rule G-36 prior to the time such documents are available from the MSIL system. In response to this suggestion, the Board determined to amend proposed rule G-36 to provide for the establishment of a public access facility open to the public, with a photocopy machine available. In addition, the amendments require underwriters to provide two copies of official statements (and any amended official statements) to the Board, along with two copies of Form G-36. This should ensure that a complete set of documents is available from the public access facility without causing the documents that are to be included in the MSIL system to be handled excessively. Finally, in response to a commentator, the Board has revised proposed rule G-36(c)(1), with regard to certain issues not subject to rule 15c2-12, to clarify that Form G-36 must be sent to the Board only when an official statement in final form is prepared and sent to the Board.

Supervision Requirements: Rules G-27 and G-9

Amendments Approved

The amendments provide more specific guidance as to the supervisory responsibilities of dealers.

On January 16, 1990, the Securities and Exchange Commission approved amendments to rules G-27 on supervision and G-9 on preservation of records.1 The amendments provide more specific guidance in rule G-27 as to the supervisory responsibilities of dealers and clarify rule G-9 as it applies to rule G-27. The amendments will become effective on July 16, 1990.

Summary of Amendments

Revised rule G-27 requires a dealer to establish an effective supervisory system that has three major components: (i) the specific designation of each principal, including his area of supervisory responsibility; (ii) the adoption and maintenance of detailed written supervisory procedures designed to ensure that a dealer's business and the municipal securities activities of its associated persons are in compliance with Board and other applicable rules; and (iii) at least an annual review of its supervisory system and written procedures to ensure that they are adequate and up-to-date and to determine whether the dealer is in compliance with Board and other applicable rules. These requirements are consistent with the practices of many dealers who have established effective supervisory systems and with the supervisory requirements of other self-regulatory organizations.

(a) Obligation to supervise. Section (a) of rule G-27 reiterates a dealer's essential obligation to supervise the conduct of its municipal securities business and the municipal securities activities of its associated persons. The duty of a dealer to supervise its own securities activities is well settled under the federal securities laws and under the shingle theory, a body of case law under the Securities Exchange Act. The Board has not altered section (a) of rule G-27.

(b) Designation of principals. All supervision must be effectuated through and by a qualified principal. Rule G-27 permits considerable flexibility, subject to certain minimum numerical requirements specified in rule G-3(b), on standards of professional qualification, to delegate supervisory responsibility to one or more principals in a manner that best serves the administrative and other practical concerns of a dealer.

Revised section (b) simply restates, in a more organized fashion, which category of principal may discharge various supervisory responsibilities. In general, supervisory responsibility for the municipal securities activities of a dealer must rest with a qualified municipal securities principal. However, rule G-27(b) specifies a number of supervisory responsibilities that also may be performed by municipal securities sales principals, by general securities principals, and by financial and operations principals.2 In addition, the section provides that a dealer that is not a bank dealer or an introducing broker must appoint at least one financial and operations principal to discharge financial reporting and customer protection requirements and to be principally responsible for the books and records of the dealer; the chief financial officer of such a dealer must be a financial and operations principal.3 An introducing broker may appoint either a financial and operations principal or a municipal securities principal to supervise its books and records or act as the chief financial officer.

A written record of the name of each designated principal and of his supervisory responsibilities must be maintained for six years as required in rule G-9 and the dealer's records must be updated as changes occur. It should be emphasized that nothing in the amendments alters the longstanding position of the Board that a principal designated as responsible for supervising the municipal activities of a branch office or unit need not be physically located there as long as the supervisor effectively can supervise the associated persons and activities of the branch office or unit from his different location.

(c) Written supervisory procedures. One of the principal provisions of rule G-27 has been the requirement that a dealer establish written supervisory procedures to assure compliance with Board and other applicable rules. This ensures that designated principals are informed about the scope of their duties and permits the dealer to oversee its principals’ activities.

2 The qualification requirements of municipal securities principals, municipal securities sales principals and financial and operations principals are contained in rule G-3. The qualification requirements of general securities principals are governed by NASD rules.

Section (c) of revised rule G-27 provides additional guidance as to what matters should be covered in written supervisory procedures. The Board anticipates that supervisory procedures will cover all supervisory activities permitted of principals under rule G-3. In addition, section (c) specifically requires written supervisory procedures to provide for the periodic review of each office in which municipal securities activities occur, including branch offices or units. Among other things, the section anticipates that the written supervisory procedures specifically will address Board rules and how supervision will occur. For example, revised paragraph (c)(ii) of rule G-27 requires the regular and frequent review and approval by a designated principal of customer accounts in which transactions occur. The purpose of this requirement, which is contained in current rule G-27, is to detect and prevent irregularities and abuses. The Board expects dealers to establish procedures that effectively obtain this objective and are capable of compliance. Thus, in determining when an account must be reviewed, a dealer might look to the volume and frequency of trading and the nature of the securities traded. Such guidelines would be appropriate if they are articulated clearly in a dealer’s written supervisory procedures.

(d) Annual review. Section (d) of revised rule G-27 requires a dealer to review and update its supervisory procedures when necessary to respond to changes in Board or other applicable rules, administrative changes at the dealer, and other relevant developments. The intent of the Board is to ensure that a dealer is aware of current regulatory developments and will educate its supervisors and associated persons in all applicable requirements to ensure compliance.

The revised rule also clarifies a dealer’s obligation to evaluate its compliance with Board and other applicable rules at least annually. The rule permits a dealer to develop its own procedures for evaluating compliance. For example, some dealers may require principals to report on compliance issues periodically or to submit written compliance reports summarizing activities under their particular supervision. In addition, a dealer must be satisfied that its designated principals are following their respective written supervisory procedures. This can be accomplished by ensuring that a designated principal keep notes sufficient to permit adequate oversight by the dealer.

(d) Duty to update and review written procedures. Each dealer shall revise and update its written supervisory procedures as necessary to respond to changes in Board or other applicable rules and as other circumstances require. In addition, each dealer shall review, at least on an annual basis, its supervisory system and written supervisory procedures adopted under section (c) of this rule to determine whether they are adequate and up-to-date and shall ensure that the dealer is in compliance with this rule.

Definitions of Industry and Public Arbitrators: Rule G-35

Amendments Filed

The Board files amendments that would define Industry and public arbitrators.

On April 30, 1990, the Board filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (Commission) amendments to rule G-35, the Board's Arbitration Code.1 The amendments pertain to the Board's proposed definitions of public and industry arbitrators and related challenges for cause. The Board has requested that the Commission delay the effectiveness of the amendments for a period of 90 days following the date of Commission approval in order to allow the Board to review the membership of its public arbitrator pool to ensure that such arbitrators fit within the new public arbitrator definition.

Pursuant to requests from the Commission, the Board revised the proposed definitions of public and industry arbitrators to be consistent with the definitions used by other self-regulatory organizations. These definitions will prohibit the use of retired industry persons and certain attorneys, accountants and other professionals as public arbitrators. Also, the amendments delete the provision granting customers a challenge for cause to the use of such persons as public arbitrators and the provision allowing the use of current public arbitrators, who will no longer come within the new public arbitrator definition, until September 1, 1991.

Administrative Changes to Arbitration: Rule G-35

Amendments Approved

The amendments alter and more clearly define the duties and role of the Director of Arbitration and reconstitute the Board's Arbitration Committee to eliminate its role in reviewing case-specific decisions of the Director of Arbitration and to remove non-Board members.

On February 6, 1990, the Securities and Exchange Commission approved amendments to rule G-35, the Board's Arbitration Code. The amendments alter and more clearly define the duties and role of the Director of Arbitration and reconstitute the Board's Arbitration Committee to eliminate its role in reviewing case-specific decisions of the Director of Arbitration and to remove non-Board members. The amendments became effective upon approval by the Commission.

Director of Arbitration

The amendments make certain administrative changes regarding the role and duties of the Director of Arbitration such as: removing the Director of Arbitration's membership in, and reporting responsibilities to, the Arbitration Committee; giving the Board's Executive Director responsibility for appointing and assigning duties to the Director of Arbitration; and providing for the Director of Arbitration to designate another person to attend hearings.

Arbitration Committee

The amendments also remove language providing for the Arbitration Committee to review case-specific determinations made by the Director of Arbitration—such as removing arbitrators from, and reviewing the time and place designated for, an arbitration hearing.

While certain other duties of the Committee remain in the Code (i.e., establish and maintain a pool of arbitrators, and deny use of the forum) these duties historically have been performed by the Board members of the Arbitration Committee and will continue to be so performed. Thus, the amendments remove the Committee's non-Board members and it is no longer necessary to reference the Committee in the Code.

Attendance at a hearing constitutes a waiver of notice thereof.

Section 17. No change.

Section 18. Attendance at Hearings

Technical Amendment: Rule G-32

Amendment Approved

The amendment clarifies that the commercial paper exemption within rule G-32 applies to both taxable and tax-exempt commercial paper.

On February 6, 1990, the Securities and Exchange Commission approved a technical amendment to rule G-32 on disclosures in connection with new issues. The amendment clarifies that the commercial paper exemption within the rule applies to both taxable and tax-exempt commercial paper. The amendment became effective upon approval by the Commission.

In 1985, the Board revised rule G-32 to delineate more clearly the responsibilities of dealers that sell new issue securities as well as to strengthen and facilitate enforcement of the rule. During its deliberation of these amendments, the Board determined to exclude short-term commercial paper from the definition of new issue securities because issuers of those securities typically provide investors with quarterly disclosure documents although an official statement may not be prepared to accompany any specific issue of these securities. The Board concluded that the disclosure process for these issues assures that investors receive material information pertaining to their investments in these securities and, given the differences between the disclosure practices for these issues and other types of municipal securities, it would not be appropriate to include these issues in the rule G-32 definition of new issue municipal securities.

Since the intent of the commercial paper exemption in rule G-32 was to exclude all short-term commercial paper, not just tax-exempt commercial paper, the technical amendment to rule G-32 clarifies this issue.

Letter of Interpretation
Rule G-15. Confirmation Disclosure of Miscellaneous Transaction Charges

In recent months, several dealers have requested guidance from the Board on the appropriate confirmation treatment of miscellaneous charges added to customer transactions. These inquiries typically relate to small amounts which some dealers add to the combined extended principal and accrued interest of a transaction, prior to arriving at the final monies. In some cases, the charges are levied for specific services provided as part of the transaction (e.g., special delivery arrangements, delivery of physical securities, delivery vs. payment settlement). In other cases, dealers may charge a flat fee characterized simply as a “transaction fee.” These miscellaneous fees differ from the commissions charged on agency transactions in that they are flat amounts and are not computed from the par value of the transaction.

Rule G-15(a)(b)(c) requires each customer confirmation to include, in addition to the specific items noted in G-15(a), “such other information as may be necessary to ensure that the parties agree to the details of the transaction.” Accordingly, the nature and amount of miscellaneous charges must be noted on the confirmation.

Questions have arisen whether miscellaneous transaction fees also should be reflected in the yield required to be disclosed on the confirmation under rule G-15(a)(b)(c). The Board does not believe that it is appropriate for these fees to be incorporated in the stated yield. Because such fees are small, they generally will not significantly affect a customer’s return on investment. To the extent that the minor miscellaneous fees charged in today’s market may be relevant to the customer’s investment decision, the Board believes that a clear disclosure of the nature and amount of the fee on the confirmation will provide customers with sufficient information. If the practice of charging miscellaneous fees and the size of miscellaneous fees changes to the extent that the fees routinely begin to represent significant factors in customers’ return on investment, the Board may reconsider this interpretation in favor of placing the charges in the stated yield.

MSRB Interpretation of May 14, 1990, by Harold L. Johnson, Deputy General Counsel.

1 In purchases from customers, such transaction charges may be subtracted from the monies owed the customer.

2 The Board also has considered questions relating to periodic charges, such as monthly charges for safekeeping. A dealer assessing periodic charges to customer accounts, of course, must reach agreement with the customer on the nature and extent of the charges and the services that will be provided in return. However, since periodic charges do not relate to a specific transaction and may change over time, a dealer’s policy on periodic charges is not required on the confirmation as “detail of the transaction.”

3 Commissions charged on agency transactions must be included in the yield calculation. See MSRB Interpretation of July 13, 1984, MSRB Manual § 3571.33 at 4528. This has led dealers to ask whether miscellaneous transaction charges should be handled in a similar manner. As noted above, the Board does not believe that miscellaneous charges should be handled in the same manner as commissions.
Revisions to the Municipal Securities Principal Examination
Effective as of July 1, 1990

On March 6, 1990, the Securities and Exchange Commission approved revised examination specifications and a revised study outline for the Municipal Securities Principal Qualification Examination (Test Series 53).¹ A revised study outline is available upon request from the Board and will be implemented with all examinations administered on and after July 1, 1990.

Background

Except as otherwise provided, rule G-3(c) requires anyone seeking qualification as a municipal securities principal to take and pass the Series 53 examination.² The examination contains questions which measure candidates' knowledge of the Board's rules, rule interpretations and other federal statutory provisions applicable to the municipal securities activities of a securities firm or bank dealer.

Summary of Revisions

The subject matter content of the revised study outline is nearly identical to the current outline. The study outline's format has been reorganized so that the presentation of topics more closely resembles the functional responsibilities of municipal securities principals. The intent is to make the presentation of the subject matter job-related and more meaningful for candidates. To this end, the various topics have been expanded to include more detail than in the present outline, including more specific references to Board rules or other applicable federal regulations.

In addition, the following topics have been added:

- SEC rule 15c2-12 on municipal securities disclosure,
- SEC Release No. 34-26100 on municipal underwriter responsibilities,
- proposed Board rule G-36 on delivery of final official statements to the Board,³ and
- the purpose and coverage limitations of the Securities Investor Protection Corporation (SIPC).

The revised examination will remain a three-hour 100 question examination administered by the National Association of Securities Dealers, Inc., using the PLATO computer system. The passing grade is 70%.

Requests for copies of the revised study outline should be made to the Board at (202) 223-9347 or by writing to:
